

GEORGIA SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE, NOT PART OF WAKE

That Is the Explanation of Great Shaking to Which Atlanta Was Subject Late Thursday Afternoon.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE AT KIRKWOOD REPORTED

Reports of Shocks Received From Many Cities in Georgia
by Constitution Last Night.

Atlanta and, in fact, nearly all of Georgia and part of Tennessee, which lies in the mountains, "felt" late Thursday, that the section had passed through an "earthquake." All the usual details of falling tableware, shattered windows, "heavy thunder," broken chimneys accompanied the reports that soon filtered in to the telegraph and newspaper offices.

People in downtown Atlanta "been told" that an "earthquake" had passed the city, began to remember that the telephone jangled, that desks rattled and that skyscrapers trembled.

Reports were received also from Macon, Albany, Windsor, Jackson, Griffin, Lithonia, Social Circle and many other points, stating that their territory had been shaken by the tremor. All of these reports showed that an actual tremor had occurred, and that the "shakes," if it could be so called, had been severe.

Just as Earth Tremor.
However, reduced to cold, scientific facts, as outlined by the weather experts, the places where the shock was felt happened to be on a line of tremor following the buckling of an earth wrinkle, on the ledge of the globe, which popular opinion pictures as a place far remote from heaven, as well as being extremely hot.

The closing of this inside earthquake, which probably covered some hundreds of miles under sea and earth, caused a slight tremor to run through the ground, the result of which the shock was felt in more than thirty situated in the interior of the earth's crust, moved in an undulating manner, and then sank into the long, continuous, and deep.

Easier than that—just like a cedar block paved street will swell in spots after a hard rain, and then recede. The barograph, one of the most delicate instruments ever constructed to aid scientists and which is specially adapted to registering such a disturbance as an earthquake, was used in the case of the local weather observatory. Director von Herrmann, on Thursday, declared that the traces on this instrument failed to register the slightest hint of a seismic disturbance, and that it was his belief, based on long experience, that no "earthquake" struck Atlanta and Georgia during the day.

Director von Herrmann, instead, inclined to the theory of an earth wrinkle, in this, that he was supported by records of tremors in the south during the past quarter of a century. There are no seismographs in use south of Washington, D. C., which could register an earthquake, and for this reason it cannot be positively said that no "earthquake" taken in its literal meaning, did not strike the southeastern Georgia on Thursday. But this much is true. Unless the seismograph in the local weather bureau registered an atmospheric change like unto an earthquake, there could have been much of a tremor locally.

Damage in Kirkwood.
Despite the statements of the local weather observers, which were quite emphatic, residents of East Point telephoned reports to the observatory that telephones had been positively put out of commission in that community by the tremor. Kirkwood residents also reported falling pictures, cracked chimneys and disturbed electric lighting systems.

Special residents declare they distinctly felt the shock. Atlanta office workers kept their telephones busy during the late afternoon making excited inquiry of Forecaster Hermann as to the extent and nature of the afternoon disturbance.

The last earth tremor was felt in Atlanta during the early night, when the world-wide Charleston "earthquake" occurred.

This disturbance, according to the local weather office, resulted from the same cause as the Alabama "quake" the evening in of an inside earth wrinkle.

Did Not Feel Disturbance.
W. W. McCallie, state geologist, with offices in the state capital building, who did not feel the disturbance, was very sure of the fact that no earthquake seismograph in this city record of the earth's vibrations could be obtained.

The quake was, no doubt, due to the displacement of large quantities of rock in the valleys of the mountains of the south, in the northern part of the state," he argued. "It was not in danger of any serious results from the earth's vibrations could be obtained."

There was a slight shock in East Tennessee April 17, 1911, which extended into northern Georgia and was felt at Dalton. No damage was done.

Wonders Struck at Lithonia.
Lithonia, Ga., March 5.—(Special.) An earthquake shock was distinctly

OVERCOME BY FEAR, HE HAS FORGOTTEN HIS NATIVE TONGUE

San Bernardino, Cal., March 5.—Although German is his native tongue, Michael Hattsch, who is supposed to have been thrown into a mental paralysis by fright or the torture of kidnappers, demonstrated today that he had forgotten all about it.

A letter came from Hattsch's sister, Mrs. Martha Kusch, who is in Connecticut. It contained a photograph of Hattsch, which positively identified the man. The text of the letter was in German and Hattsch, who has been in a hospital here for several weeks, returning to walk and to talk, indicated that he did not know such a language existed.

Hattsch was found here last month a few days after the police of Los Angeles received notice from Mrs. Kusch that kidnappers had demanded $200 ransom for his return. Hattsch, who is now in the hospital, said he had no memory of the kidnapping. He declared he had been in the hospital for several months, but he remembered nothing of his life before he was found wandering in the position of this city.

DOOMED BY VILLA UNLESS HE PAYS $500,000 RANSOM

This Is Day Fixed for the Execution of Luis Terrazas, Jr., Unless Money Is Paid to Villa.

FATHER OF TERRAZAS TRIES TO RAISE MONEY

Villa Has Held Terrazas Prisoner in Chihuahua for Several Months—Rebel Leader Bitterly Hates Terrazas Family.

El Paso, Texas, March 5.—General Luis Terrazas, Jr., American consul at Chihuahua, now in this city awaiting instructions to save his son, Luis, whose life has been made the subject of a $500,000 ransom, is not paid to General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader.

General Terrazas declared himself deeply moved by the appeal of the occasion, and he has been working for several months, whose wide possessions have been confiscated by the constitutional forces, but he had to reply that he was helpless in the matter.

"I am 60 years old and neither life nor money mean much to me," said General Terrazas with a tremor in his voice. "My son, Luis, has three children and they need him. I would gladly return to Chihuahua and Villa could kill me instead of Luis."

While General Terrazas did not say so, his money must be paid to him, but he is not in possession of the sum demanded. Luis, the son, is about 18 years and for several months has been held prisoner by the rebels.

At the time of his arrest the rebels demanded $100,000 for his release. His life. This sum was slow in being paid, but he was taken out of a house adjacent to his neck. Then the torture was repeated until he signaled that he would pay the $100,000. The rebels then took him to the Chihuahua bank.

After this incident he was removed from the palace where he had been confined, and he was taken to his father's house. Women relatives some time later appeared to Villa to release him, but Villa was adamant.

"If the citizens had Pancho Villa, you think he would be restrained in a palace and treated with the consideration I have shown Don Luis," Villa replied.

Now Pancho Villa's head would have been placed on a pike and paraded about the city. The Terrazas family

This move, which has been agitated ever since a campaign for such a hospital launched a considerable while ago by the Constitution, was given a big boost last night at an enthusiastic meeting of the Rotary club, which is a public health organization.

Three hundred and sixty-five dollars of a required sum of $500 was raised at the meeting. The remainder was assured. It will be collected soon, it is believed. It will be put in hands of the city. The city board of health will maintain it. It will accommodate the neighborhood of fifty patients.

Mayor Woodward agreed to present a building for the hospital. The Rotary club will furnish the building. The city board of health will maintain it. It will accommodate the neighborhood of fifty patients.

To cope with the alarming spread of disease is the principal idea of the move at present there is no place in Atlanta where the colored people can go to get medical attention. Dr. Summrell, who is in charge of the city health department, stated at last night's meeting that the disease had grown to alarming proportions throughout the city.

The Rotary club, which is a public health organization, composed of leading business men, including a considerable number of colored men, is now working to raise the money to build the hospital.

A tribute was paid to the Constitution by Mr. Kriegerbaum for its fight to get the hospital. He said that the Constitution had been a great help to the city in the matter of the hospital. He said that the Constitution had been a great help to the city in the matter of the hospital.

BOLD HOLD-UP STORY A FAKE, SAY POLICE

Detectives Do Not Believe Report That Lone Robber Entered Offices of Jefferson Loan Society.

The story that a lone robber entered the Jefferson Loan Society's office at 39 North Forsyth street Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and throwing a gun on J. Steinberg, the cashier, who states he was alone in the office, containing the cash, robbing him of $15 and then hurriedly running out, is branded by the police as a fake.

A thorough investigation of the alleged robbery was made by the police and detectives who were assigned to look into the robbery. Steinberg tells a story of a hand-dressed young man entering the place and informing him that he was a representative of Bradstreet's, and wished to look over the books of the company and secure a rating for it. Steinberg told the police that he was counting the money, and that the robber opened the window and threw a gun on him, commanding him to give up the money.

He states that he gave him about $15, and that then the robber told him to open the safe, but that he told him he would rather die than touch the money in the safe. At this the robber then quickly withdrew before Steinberg had an opportunity to use his pistol, and ran across the street in the direction of the Piedmont Hotel. Steinberg called the police immediately.

The police have their belief that the story of the robbery is a fake on what Steinberg himself told them, and what another young man said, who was sitting in a chair in an adjoining office, which was partitioned off from the loan company by a glass window. This man may have told the story, as the police had been seen no man enter the office, nor had he seen anyone run out.

UNDER WHICH FLAG?

President Wilson, in his admirable message to Congress with regard to the Panama canal toll issue, said:

"I shall not now go to deal with matters of even greater delicacy and nearer sequence if you do not see the necessity to repeal the toll law (discrimination) in unambiguous measure."

No doubt the president referred to the Mexican question, today more formidable than at any previous time and by coincidence nearly affecting Great Britain, which is also the chief protestant in the toll dispute.

It is inconceivable that congress will reject the president's plea. He tells congress plainly that to retain the toll exemption to countries toll would be national dishonor.

His calm and dispassionate statement leaves the advocates of repudiation and stultification not one leg upon which to stand.

Under the solemn obligations of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, we promised to open the canal to "all nations" upon terms of absolute equality.

It now is held by some that "all nations" meant all nations except the United States; that on that plea we should exempt our coastwise trade from tolls.

The contention is a quibble, threatening to the honor and the good faith of the whole nation.

The issue is not one of hair-splitting for doctrinaires.

It is a nakedly a question of right versus wrong.

It is not a question of what we gain or what we lose in money.

Our coastwise shipping is already superbly protected against the world, but it now asks for the subsidy of free tolls.

The Associated Press said of Chairman Adamson's talk with the president on this subject:

"The attitude of Representative Adamson is that the toll exemption is a plain subsidy, which he characterizes as plain stealing, and which he holds is immoral and undemocratic."

That is true, but it is only half of the real argument against the infamy.

The question of honor is the first consideration.

The original bill did not contain the free toll subsidy.

It was put in the bill against the protest of Chairman Adamson and in the heat of debate, without serious thought of its humiliating consequences.

Today we know better.

Under which flag shall this nation stand before the world?

The flag of honor?

The flag of dishonor?

The answer and the responsibility is with congress.

The president has done his duty.

DO STATES GO CRAZY?

Woodrow Wilson broke the precedent of a century's standing by delivering his messages verbally to congress.

His tack and the nation's business have greeted by the transaction. The legislative and executive branches have come closer together in a truly constructive sense.

A few worthy, but superstitious, people in this country have found their malgating that we are drifting toward a monarchy wholly groundless. Wilson is justified.

But those of South Carolina, has established an entirely new precedent in the history of official appearance.

He would not only appear in person to deliver his messages, but he is ready to lick any member who disagrees with or criticizes him. And he will do it right on the floor, or in the lobby of the house.

Some recent old photographs once averred that states as well as individuals go crazy.

Talk persists that South Carolina may send Blaine to the United States senate.

The thought, startling and sickening, is now that South Carolina goes crazy?

Is the country going to be forced to provide straightjackets and padded cells for states temporarily deranged?

THE MEXICAN DILEMMA.

So often have "crises" in Mexican situation blown in like a lion and blown out like a lamb that we were skeptical whenever new tales of tension are served to our anxious notice. But the latest dispatches from Washington intimate that a climax of some sort at last is brewing. The ponderous senate and even the obedient cabinet have taken up the problem, and there is discussion of bringing matters to a focus as yet unbroached.

In this connection we are tempted to recall the epigram of the inimitable Goldsmith, "Now that you've got it, what are you going to do with it?"

That sentiment would really be the rubbing spirit if we crossed the Rio Grande river.

And that is precisely why we have no uncontrollable yearning to see the stars and stripes make the trip.

We had a pretty hard and costly tussle in the Philippines, and as yet the end is not in sight.

Our experience with the "little brown brother" would be an al fresco party compared to an attempt to reduce anarchy to order in Mexico.

Happily, Great Britain seems disposed to be reasonable regarding the Benton licking, and we have to thank England for her sympathetic breadth.

But any man with half an eye in his head sees that matters cannot continue indefinitely in their present status.

Remembering our long pension list and the value of peace at home and the value of an American life, let us hope the president's plea will find an amiable way out of the present bewildering situation.

THE ROAD CONGRESS.

The American Road congress, with its many allied associations, will meet in Atlanta on November 9. Secretary Pennypacker has advised Fred Houser to that effect.

In this connection The Constitution offers as a worthwhile suggestion to the road-building authorities in Georgia that they make every effort to be well represented personally at the sessions of the congress.

The convention will bring to Atlanta the foremost road-making authorities in America.

Demonstrations of road-working machinery and exhibits of model roads will be numbered by the score.

Georgia already is a banner road state and it is not without a strong feeling on the decision of the congress to hold its convention here.

But we yet have much to learn. We shall have larger representation and shillbills on our hands when federal aid becomes available, and that seems in the near prospect, the hitch about the convict labor clause to the contrary notwithstanding.

The ordinaries, the county commissions and the road engineers of Georgia can learn voluntarily from these men of the world.

Mistake of long standing and of possible future development can, the one be corrected, the other avoided.

The record standing of road-building next fall will comprise a splendid investment.

A GREAT MAN'S WIDOW.

The death of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, widow of the novelist and essayist, not to speak of her husband's literary prevailing throughout the whole seaboard of North and South America. The loss to position to this throw down the gauntlet to a practically united reactionary Continental Europe, at that time contemplating

Mexico and Central and South America.

COLLEGE WOMEN MARRY AND ARE GOOD MOTHERS

Miss Laura Drake Gill, of Sewanee, Defends Higher Education for Girls.

New Haven, Conn., March 5.—Thirty years ago, the prediction was made that the higher education was fostering a slow to the health of women. Miss Laura Drake Gill, president of the College for Women, Sewanee, Tenn., in addressing the eleventh annual religious education association convention today, "but figures show that on the very small percentage have impaired health."

College Women and Matrimony. "Later the cry was that college women were not marrying early enough, or if they married, they did not have children enough. Again figures show that while college women marry a little later in life, they finally marry in the same proportion as their nearest female blood relatives who are not college graduates. And they have relatively larger families; a larger percentage are living and their children have better health."

As to the economic status of college women, the speaker said: "It shows that they are not dragging the nation down. One trouble is that the greater number of graduates have gone into teaching. The non-teaching occupations give better salaries, more rapid advancement and greater opportunities."

Miss Frances Cummings, of the International Bureau of Occupations, was taking more interest in social service and doing more for the benefit of 175 persons applied for work of this character.

Social Service in Orient. Dr. P. H. Dillingham, of Atlanta, told of social service in the Orient. He said that service had penetrated the far east and was doing much for the betterment of the people.

Speaking on "Who Should Not Go to College." Edwin A. Kirkpatrick, of Chicago, Mass., said there were standards by which society could select young people for college. He said that the college should be a place where the young people could be trained for the future.

Winning College Education. In winning college education, he said, there are many difficulties that must be overcome in training real culture. The degree of degrees should be detracted from.

The first public session was held in the afternoon at Yale. The speaker was President Arthur D. Noyes, of the University of Chicago. He said that the college should be a place where the young people could be trained for the future.

Religious Revival. Mr. Soares said that there is a widespread feeling of religion. Nothing is more common than to see a man who is a devotee of the love of God. He said that the college should be a place where the young people could be trained for the future.

How Any Woman Can Remove Fuzzy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)
Many beauty shops use a delicate paste for removing hair from the face, neck or arms, as it is more satisfactory, in every way, than the electrolytic method. The powdered substance is mixed into a paste, and spread on the hairy surface for a few minutes, then removed and with it comes every bit of hair. After the skin is washed it will be firm and free from blemish. For instant best results, buy the delicate form your druggist in an original package.—(Adv.)

DRAWN UP IN A KNOT WALKING

Peculiar Way in Which Lady Had to Walk and How Easily She Was Straightened Out.

Laurel Hill, Fla.—The following advice from this town tell in detail of Mrs. Nellie Moore's peculiar condition. "About three months ago, I was taken down with terrible cramps. I didn't pay much attention to it at first, but slowly and surely I got worse until I could hardly walk, and I had to go down up in a knot, when I did walk. My husband got me some medicine, but it did me no good. I suffered that way for a week. Finally, a motherly old lady told me to get a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I knew it was a good medicine from the start. I took it according to directions, and in a short while I felt like a new person. Cardui is like a dear friend to come and take hold of and women's tire-some work. Now, when I have heavy work, such as washing, ironing, sweeping, or sewing, I take a dose of Cardui and it seems to go to all my aching places and relieves me almost instantly. I advise all suffering women to give Cardui a trial. It will do wonders for them."

Give Cardui a trial for your troubles. It has helped over a million women in the past 50 years. Why not you?

STOUT DEFENSE MADE OF GRAIN EXCHANGES

Denied That They Are Tools of a Combination. Power of Congress Questioned.

Washington, March 5.—Defense of the Chicago Board of Trade and the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce against charges that they are tools of a combination arbitrarily controlling the price of wheat in the United States began today before the house rules committee.

Henry S. Robbins, counsel for the Chicago board, told the committee that the organizations were not and could not be involved in any grain monopoly, because they were not engaged as organizations in commercial enterprises. He declared the exchanges merely provided places and means of trading, but took no part in the deals.

Congress Lacks Power.

Mr. Robbins argued that congress had no power to conduct the investigation proposed in Representative Mahan's pending resolution, to compel the exchanges to furnish information under the Sherman law by the most direct method.

The department he said, already was "red-hot enough" and state law covered any points in the complaint of farmers' organizations not to be reached by the Sherman act.

The committee expects to close hearings on the Mahan resolution Saturday. It has been suggested that the proposed investigation be extended to include the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges, but only the Chicago and Duluth organizations are represented at the hearings and they will divide the time and a half day.

Mr. Robbins replied to the charges of wheat growers, C. M. Canby, president of the Chicago board, will be the chief witness tomorrow.

Paradiction Is Denied.

In his opening statement today Mr. Robbins contended strongly that the federal government has no jurisdiction over terminal grain elevators because they were not engaged in interstate business. Prohibition of future trading in grain, he argued, also was beyond the constitutional powers of congress. He declared that the future of the exchanges, and cited the opinions of the supreme court, to support his contention.

Witnesses told conflicting stories, and were instantly contradicted. It was not common carriers, he said, and cotton contracts made between Alabama and New York were not to be interstate commerce.

It would be impossible, Mr. Robbins added, for an exchange to eliminate from its future contracts any business purely gambling. Either all future trading must be prohibited, or the subject left alone. He insisted that the whole system of distributing products was necessarily a speculative one and the present method had not failed because it was the best one yet found.

It was alleged that when this was done, Steedley said: "We want to make sure of it."

Magnates to Meet Lusitania.
The magnates will meet the Lusitania on the government revenue cutter, which leaves here at 6 in the morning. Johnson, Baker, Frank, and the New York Americans, Lannin and other major league club owners have tickets of admission to the cutter, which at a late hour President Gilmore and his associates had been unable to get. There was some talk of chartering a boat, but at this would not give the Federal assistance to the Lusitania, they were said to have about decided to meet the players at the dock, which will give the organized men an advantage.

Gilmore today told wireless messages to the eight players who were Spence, Crawford, Magee, Wingo, Egan, Leverenz, Doolan and Evans—and told them not to sign until they had heard from him.

They will be crazy if they don't accept what he is willing to give them, said the general.

A meeting was held late today at the Waldorf, attended by President Gilmore, Attorney Gates and Presidents Baker and Gaffney, of the Philadelphia and Boston Nationals, respectively. The conference, which was the start of a series of players in dispute, was unproductive of any agreement, both sides declared, although Baker said the problem would be left to Governor Tener.

Pittsburg Feds Sold.

During the day President Gilmore arranged a deal by which Edward W. Gwinner, a Pittsburg capitalist, took over the majority holdings of the Pittsburg Federal. Gwinner is the son of a wealthy retired contractor and former bank president. It was announced that he will immediately begin to build up the old wooden stands at Exposition park, in Pittsburgh, these to be replaced by new concrete and steel stands next season. Gilmora also declared that within the last two days men with money in plenty at their command had taken over the Buffalo club.
